Survey Marks Act 1925

An Act to reserve a distinguishing mark for use in connection with official surveys

---

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Survey Marks Act 1925.

2 Definitions

In this Act:

‘Government Surveyor’ means the public officer from time to time responsible for carrying out land and other surveys on behalf of the Republic.

3 Official survey mark

In the conduct of official surveys made by the Government Surveyor or under his superintendence, the distinguishing mark to be used shall be in the form of a mark generally known as the broad arrow, and such mark is hereby reserved for this purpose. Every person other than the Government Surveyor, or a person working under his superintendence, who makes or causes to be made, or who uses such mark or mark of similar appearance in marking any boundary, or so as to appear to indicate a boundary of any land, shall be guilty of an offence against this Act.

Penalty: Fine not exceeding Twenty dollars.

4            Interference with survey marks

No person, unless the approval in writing of the Government Surveyor be first obtained, shall obliterate, remove, or deface any Government survey distinguishing mark, or any landmark or beacon, which has been erected by or under the direction of the Government Surveyor.

Penalty:    Fine not exceeding Twenty dollars.
